

DYNAMIC DISCOVERY ALGORITHM

ABSTRACT OF THE INVENTION

5 A method for monitoring exception events generated by a software application including operating the software application to generate exception event data responsive to an exception event, monitoring the software application to identify an occurrence of the exception event and to obtain the exception event data, examining the exception event data to determine type of the exception event and processing the exception event data responsive to the type of the exception 10 event.